Greystone
Research Associates

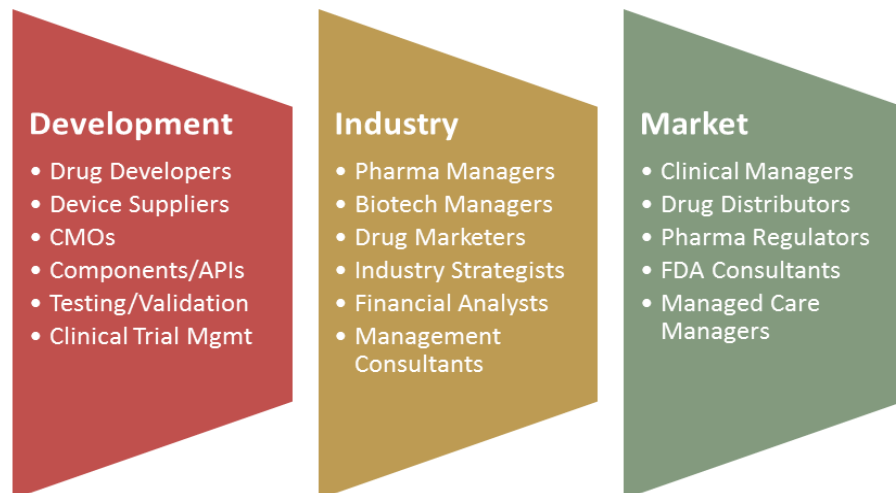

Greystone Research Associates is pleased to announce the publication of a new market assessment. Pen Injectors to 2026: Products, Therapeutic Market, Strategies and Forecasts is a comprehensive evaluation and analysis of the technology, products and participants providing the driving force behind this evolving segment of the healthcare sector. The study is designed to provide drug company decision makers, drug delivery developers, device designers, healthcare marketers, and supply chain participants with a detailed understanding of the economics, technologies, disease segments, and commercial opportunities for injection devices that incorporate drug cartridges and advanced tactile and user feedback features. Provider organization business managers, healthcare administrators and investors will also benefit from this study.

The Evolution of Device Safety and Product Branding

User-friendly syringe and injection device designs and the availability of an increasing number of drugs in prefilled insertable and disposable cartridges are propelling the growth of pen injection devices for self-administration. The cost of biologicals such as recombinant proteins has created interest in pen injectors to reduce cost and waste associated with the handling of vial-packaged drugs. A second factor is the continued adoption of custom pen designs as a way of differentiating injectables developed for self-administration through product branding. These devices feature one or more user-friendly features to further the product's desirability relative to competing options.

What You Will Learn

- What injectable drugs are supplied in pen injection devices; what are the key market segments, market dynamics and market demographics?
- What are the therapeutic demand drivers and commercial pen products in key product segments?
- What are the design factors, material selection issues, technologies and market development issues?
- How big is the pen injection device market? How fast is it growing? What will it look like in five years?
- Who are the leading device and drug sector participants, their product development activities, business strategies, and corporate alliances and affiliations?
- What is the importance of pharma-device alliances and design partnerships on pen injection device commercialization and market access?
- What is the impact of wirelessly connected pen injection devices on patient care and market growth?
- What are the significant economic, technology, and regulatory factors affecting the market for pen injection devices?

Report Format and Availability

This report is available electronic format. A site license for a single physical location and a corporate license are also available. Custom licensing options to address specific company user requirements are available by calling client services at 603-440-5710, or by emailing clientservices@greystoneassociates.org.

Methodology

Research methodology is based on primary research in the form of in-depth interviews with key market participants, technology developers, distributors, industry experts, and market influencers, a list that includes regulatory officials, industry trade groups, and materials standards organizations.

Primary data is evaluated and normalized against secondary sources including trade journal articles, technical literature, industry publications, company data sheets and published information, and statistical data from government agencies and trade associations.

Forecasts and projections of market demand and future market activity are derived using standard modeling and statistical techniques.

About Greystone Associates

Greystone Associates is a medical technology consulting firm focused on the areas of medical market strategy, product commercialization, venture development, and market research.
